FESTIVAL OF THE MIND

18–28 September

Festival of the Mind is a celebration of ideas, culture and collaboration. It's open to everyone and it's FREE.

The University of Sheffield has teamed up with the city's creative community to design a magical festival of performances, talks, exhibitions and activities.

All events are subject to change. For the latest information, see:

Message from the Vice-Chancellor

Sheffield is a city of makers, a place of connections. Festival of the Mind is a collaboration between the city and the University of Sheffield – it's a celebration of ideas, culture and creativity.

This year's festival will be bigger than ever. There will be something for everyone – from family events to entertainment after dark in the beautiful Spiegel tent in Barker's Pool. There will be music, performance and installations throughout the city. The University's most exciting research will be shared in unexpected and inspiring ways.

So come along and enjoy the spectacular, the intriguing and the beautiful. Festival of the Mind promises to capture the spirit of invention and collaboration, the love of ideas that makes Sheffield such a wonderful place to live and work.

Professor Sir Keith Burnett

wellcome trust

The festival team

Summary of events

A Letter to Sheffield

Exhibition of letters from Sheffield people sharing their memories of the city. Curated by the Our Favourite Places team with letter-writing expert Dr Jonathan Ellis.

Aprirsi: Opening a Serene Sound Space for People With Dementia

Acclaimed composers In The Nursery collaborate with the Department of Neuroscience to produce an immersive sound environment, using binaural recording to create a 3D-stereo effect.

Build the Body!

Fun learning experience for children about the materials scientists use to replace different parts of the body. With Dr Iliida Ortega Asencio and colleagues from the Faculty of Medicine, Dentistry and Health.

Cabaret Boom Boom

Sheffield's most exciting and eclectic cabaret celebrates its 100th show. The dazzling line up includes comic violin virtuoso Sid Bowfin, escapologist extraordinaire Gareth Jones and the daring beer balancer Matt Barnard. Tickets are £12 (£10 concessions) and can be booked via www.rockyhorrors.co.uk

Cabinet of Curiosities: The Amazing World of the Alfred Denny Museum

Sheffield's secret museum of the strange opens its doors again for guided tours. Exhibits include fossilised flying dinosaurs, ferocious Sun Spiders and the skull of a man-sized eagle known as the Terror Bird. This is a free, ticketed event. For details of special feature talks and to book your ticket, see our website.

Summary of events

Curious Things in Curious Places

Professor Vanessa Toulmin gives a fascinating insight into the history of curious things including the Charing Cross Whale, the Regent Street Fleas and the French giant at the Angel Inn.

Disruptive Technology Astronomy

Three Sheffield physicists have used Raspberry Pi computing and 3D modelling technology to construct a telescope to photograph and record the night sky. The results are tweeted in real time (@PiKonCamera).

DNA Torpedoes

Animated film by Humanstudio, showcasing Dr Allan Pacey's research into fertility.

Engaged University

Festival Director and Head of Engagement Professor Vanessa Toulmin discusses the importance of city-wide partnerships. If you ever wanted to know why Festival of the Mind happens, this is your chance.

Fairness On the 83

Do we live in a divided city? Interactive online map of the bus route that links north and south Sheffield, including filmed interviews with the people who catch the 83.

From Loss to Hope: The Story of Motor Neurone Disease

Patients and their families tell their stories through artwork and writing.

From Wonderland to Dress of Glass and Flame: Nine Years of Art/Science Collaboration in Sheffield – Exhibition

An exhibition featuring that dress: the 2013 sculpture designed by Helen Storey and made at Berengo Studio, Venice.

From Wonderland to Dress of Glass and Flame: Nine Years of Art/Science Collaboration in Sheffield – Film and Q&A

Professors Tony Ryan and Helen Storey present a new film about their work together. This is a free, ticketed event. Book your ticket via our website.

From Wonderland to Dress of Glass and Flame: Nine Years of Art/Science Collaboration in Sheffield – Talk

Professors Tony Ryan and Helen Storey discuss their work together.

Gaze-Shift: Installation

This installation by artist Paul Evans is designed to stimulate different parts of your brain. A brain map, provided by Professor Peter Redgrave, Department of Psychology, shows you what's happening where.

Gaze-Shift: Talk and Q&A

Meet artist Paul Evans and Professor Peter Redgrave for a special screening of their collaborative installation, followed by a discussion about the ideas behind it.

Grow Wild: Love Square

Love Square is a new type of 'smart' urban eco-park. It will combine nature, wildlife, youthful energy and local pride – transforming an eyesore plot and connecting disparate communities. Come and find out more.

Summary of events

Harvey Teasdale: The Sheffield Man-Monkey

Performance by the Point Blank theatre group based on the colourful autobiography of this working-class Sheffield showman.

Imaginary Castles: Exhibition

Hundreds of years ago, one of Europe's largest castles was in Sheffield city centre. This exhibition, featuring models and drawings by pupils from St Wilfred's Primary School and Hunter's Bar Junior School, imagines what it was like.

Imaginary Castles: Lecture

Professor John Moreland talks about Sheffield's near-mythic castle and an extraordinary project encouraging local schoolchildren to take an interest in archaeology.

Inspiration & Co: Mind Store

Part chat show, part curiosity shop, the Mind Store invites some of Sheffield's most beautiful minds to share their Eureka! moments – and the objects that inspired them.

Life Play

What will tomorrow bring? Armageddon, Utopia or the same-old same-old? Life Play lets you try out various possible futures in an accessible game format.

Loomery Scrolls: Exhibition

Drawings by the artist Chris Wallbank documenting life in the guillemot breeding colonies of Skomer Island.

Loomery Scrolls: Lecture

Guillemot expert Professor Tim Birkhead explains some of the behaviour captured in Chris Wallbank's extraordinary drawings. This is a free, ticketed event. Book your ticket via our website.

Mind Investors

Help us decide how to invest in research for a better future. Researchers will pitch their ideas. You can question, comment and vote on which project gets the funding.

Mind Reading: Man vs Machine

Is it really possible to read minds? This performance pits a professional mind reader against new magnetic resonance imaging technology to see who gets the best results. Expect mind games.

Off the Shelf: Tales From Sheffield

In association with the Off the Shelf Festival of Words. Series of talks documenting the rich history of our city. See our website for details.

Open Data/Open Hardware: Resilient Cultures

Demos, performances and workshops using Raspberry Pi computers and open software to promote creativity in technology.

Osteolyticon

Game Technology Against Cancer (GTAC) unveil their latest project – a video game that raises awareness of bone and myeloma cancer. Stop by and play it on the big screen.

Our Corner: Art As Political Expression

Creative workshops, open mic nights and an exhibition responding to themes of discrimination, inequality and sense of place. You'll need a ticket for the workshops. Book your ticket via our website.

Our Corner: Art As Political Expression – Debate

Can you express yourself politically through art? Join our public debate.

Summary of events

ReMake Castlegate

3D model exhibition and guided tours of this historic area by artists, architects and local people.

Researchers' Night

Researchers from every faculty of the University open their doors to the public for one night only. There will be interactive experiments, weird and wonderful artefacts, debates, quizzes and talks. For a full list of activities, see our website.

Save the Birds: Exhibition

Audio-visual exhibition recreating the dawn chorus to highlight the problem of Britain's declining bird population. With music by The Black Dog and visuals by Shaun Bloodworth.

Save the Birds: Lecture

Award-winning author and scientist Professor Tim Birkhead talks about Britain's declining bird population and why we don't hear the dawn chorus anymore.

Sheffield Bazaar

An exhibition of work by 20 artists including projection, digital media, film and illustration. Curated by Professor Vanessa Toulmin and Felicity Hoy.

Sheffield Ignite Academy

Rapid-fire talks from some of Sheffield's leading researchers in an informal, coffee shop setting. The Ignite motto is: 'Enlighten us but make it quick!'. Each talk lasts five minutes.

Shows of Sheffield

The creative community have created 10 pop-up shops inspired by the 20th anniversary of the National Fairground Archive.

Sideshow and Illegitimate Entertainment

Showman, magician and theatre director Jon Marshall talks about the history of the travelling sideshow, from exotic animal shows to dangerous physical performances and the showmen themselves – peerless storytellers whose job was to bring in the crowds.

Slung Low's Knowledge Emporium

Interactive theatre. The emporium is an old-fashioned sweetshop with one big difference: it doesn't take money. You give them an anecdote, a story, a recipe or a little-known fact and help yourself to sweets.

Sounds of the Cosmos

The Octagon turns planetarium to host two performances of Holst's The Planets by the Sheffield Rep Orchestra. Visuals by Humanstudio. Talks on the cosmos by the Department of Physics and Astronomy. This is a free, ticketed event. Book your ticket via our website.

Symbiosis: Social Experiments With Living Sculpture

Art that interacts with the viewer and turns our feelings into form.

Tales from the Ivory Tower

Storyteller Tim Ralphs has helped a group of Sheffield researchers turn episodes from their working lives into engaging, entertaining tales. Come and listen.

Summary of events

Can social media and mobile technology give us more of a say on legislation? Live debate, featuring members of the Parliamentary Speaker's Commission on Digital Democracy.

The Great Sheffield Mash Up – Ida Barr: Inter-generational Art

OAP rapper Ida Barr, aka artist Christopher Green, joins Professor Brendan Stone, School of English, to stage a performance involving disparate social groups from the city.

The New Age of Robotics: Interactive Exhibition

A rare opportunity to interact with humanoid and animal-like robots that might become part of our everyday lives in the not-too-distant future.

The Beauty of Science: Art in Glass

Summary of events

The New Age of Robotics: Lectures

Expert talks on the humanoid and animal-like robots that might become part of our everyday lives in the not-too-distant future.

The Resilient City: Ecology, People, Nature

An exhibition by the Department of Landscape on transforming our public spaces to create a liveable, sustainable and climate-adapted city.

The Tactile Image

Extraordinary exhibition of 2D and 3D images by photographer and film-maker Clive Egginton who recently lost his sight after being diagnosed with brain cancer in January this year.

The Word Made Fresh

Artist and illustrator Kid Acne teams up with Dr Katie Edwards, Department of Biblical Studies, to create murals exploring the Bible's influence on street art.

The World in Our City: Languages Live

Exhibitions, talks and taster sessions celebrating the city's multilingual character. Over 120 languages are spoken in Sheffield. Stop by and try one.

Thermal Imaging of Sheffield's Buildings: Exhibition

Could some of our famous landmarks be more environmentally friendly? This exhibition of thermal images helps us to understand how our buildings lose heat – and how we could conserve energy to reduce CO₂ emissions.

Thermal Imaging of Sheffield's Buildings: Panel Discussion

Live talk about some of the issues raised by our thermal imaging photo exhibition.

Urban Agriculture: The Roots of Change

When renegade gardener Ron Finley got into trouble for planting vegetables on the parkway outside his South LA home, he started a global food revolution. Now he's coming to Sheffield to tell us how a garden can break the chains of social injustice. This is a free, ticketed event. Book your ticket via our website.

Urban Treasures

Urban treasure hunt for families. As you follow the clues to solve an intricate puzzle, you'll start to see the city in a completely different way. Pick up a guide at Barker's Pool, The Spiegeltent (open daily from 11am) or Castle House (open daily 10.30am–5pm).

What Do I Know? Learning Disability, Art and Knowledge

This performance by artists from The Professors company looks at how people with learning disabilities engage with education, academia and art. Followed by a panel discussion.

Wondertours

Get ready to be entertained and appalled by what your ancestors thought was funny. Wondertours recreate variety acts from Sheffield's past, including French giants, Egyptian Sand Dancers and the great Houdini. Book your tour at Barker's Pool, The Spiegeltent (open daily from 11am).
